ALDERMEN AND WOMEN PROBE CITY HOME

Poorhouse Clean But Inmates Are In Rags, Investigators Find

Rumors Of Mismanagement At City Home Lead To Surprise Visit
ARGUMENTS ARE HEATED
Inmates Deprived Of Comforts Because Of Too Much Economy

Constant rumors concerning alleged mismanagement of the city poor farm which were brought to a climax by a fight between two women inmates of that institution in the absence of the superintendent and his wife caused Mayor Henry Reuter to call together on Thursday members of the poor committee and other councilmen and representatives of the Appleton Welfare council for an investigation of the city home. Two trips to the institution were made Thursday and one on Wednesday in order to determine the truth of the rumors.

Arguments at the final meeting, which took place in the dining room of the institution Thursday afternoon and was in the form of an interview with Joseph H. Shasky, superintendent and Mrs. Shasky, were rather warm. When a member of the welfare council suggested that the inmates be brought before the visitors, both Mr. and Mrs. Shasky opposed the plan. They said that at that time there was no specific complaint and they saw no reason why the inmates should be questioned. They said, however, that they would be glad to investigate any specific complaint immediately after it happened.

Complaints from the neighborhood of the farm were made to Mrs. Gustave Keller, Alderman L. O. Hansen and Mayor Reuter when two women fought on the balcony at the city home in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Shasky last week. Two of the women came to blows and carried their noisy scuffling to the balcony. Neighbors feared they might fall over the railing.

OPERATION FAILS TO SAVE SENATOR

William P. Dillingham, Vermont, Dies After Apparent Recovery
By Associated Press
Montpelier, Vt.—United States Senator William P. Dillingham, of Vermont died here late Thursday night. Senator Dillingham, 67, had been ill for several weeks and had appeared to be on the way to recovery until last Sunday when his condition took a turn for the worse.

2 WOMEN SERVE ON HAMMER SLAYER JURY

By Associated Press
Superior—Three women occupied the jury box as qualified and accepted jurors in the trial of Jacob Vassili, charged with one of the most gruesome murders in history of this city Friday entered its third day.

Former Wet Leader In Assembly Prepares To Take Up Duties As Dry Chief
By Associated Press
Madison—Assemblyman Herman Sachtlein, Madison, who has been offered the position of prohibition commissioner for Wisconsin to succeed W. Stanley Smith, will accept the job tendered him by Governor Blaine. It is learned here that his acceptance is expected shortly after the legislature adjourns.

Base Handicap On Grandkids For Golf Meet

By Associated Press
Chicago—More than 50 judges and former judges will compete in the first judicial vacation golf tournament here next Wednesday. Handicaps will be based on grandchildren, according to Judge Joseph Sabath, who arranged the meet.

WISCONSIN STARTS WAR ON BUCKETEERS

Senator Morris Prepares To Stop Fake Sales Of Stocks
By Associated Press
Milwaukee—One broker is under arrest and another is being sought for alleged violation of the blue sky law here. Fred L. Good of Churchill, Dodge, Inc., dealers in stocks and bonds, is under arrest. Richard Stein, head of the Stein Austin company is being sought by authorities.

AUTO HIT WHEN IT STALLS ON TRACK

Racine Man Is Injured In Collision With Interurban Car South Of Neenah
John Ross of Racine suffered a deep scalp wound and bruised back when his automobile was struck by a Neenah-Oshkosh interurban car about 10 o'clock Thursday morning near Gillingham corners, a few miles south of Neenah. Mr. Ross and wife and daughter were on their way to New London to Mrs. Ross' parents. They took the wrong road, turned into a driveway to back up and return to Gillingham corner, and the engine stalled while the machine was across the interurban track. The women jumped and Mr. Ross remained, trying to start his engine. Falling in this, he was trampled by the interurban and could not stop in time to avoid the collision. Mr. Ross was taken to Theda Clark hospital, Neenah, where nine stitches were taken in the scalp wound.

RALSTON MAY BE DEMOCRAT DARK HORSE FOR 1924

Senator From Indiana Is Favorite Of Democratic Boss In Indiana
GOOD POLITICAL RECORD
Friends Say Age Is No Handicap To Achievement In Public Life
By David Lawrence
Copyright 1923 by the Post Pub. Co.
(This is the seventh of the series of nine articles by David Lawrence on presidential possibilities and impossibilities given an appraisal of the political assets and liabilities of the men most talked about today for the Republican and Democratic nominations. Mr. Lawrence has just finished a tour of the western part of the United States with President Harding and is now enroute to Europe to make a detailed survey of reconstruction problems there. At the conclusion of this series, Mr. Lawrence's daily cables from Europe will begin exclusively in the Post-Crescent.)

United States Senator Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana is the first dark horse of the Democratic presidential race. He is hardly as well known as the other Democratic aspirants, but it is surprising to find politicians of the old school and the new school saying that if the convention is deadlocked Ralston of Indiana would be a likely compromise candidate.

STRIKING RECORD

Mr. Ralston is one of the leading lawyers of Indiana. As governor of the state, he made a record for economy. A debt of more than a million dollars was paid off and a comfortable balance left in the treasury. During his term of office the Indiana legislature enacted the public service commission law which was written after a careful study of the public utility laws of other states. He brought about the appointment of a commission to study the tax situation in Indiana and some of the information developed by that commission was used by the Republicans to revise the tax law in 1919. Indiana voters believe that Mr. Ralston as governor was faithful to their interests. They look upon him as "Safe and Sound."

AGE NO HANDICAP

By some, Mr. Ralston is regarded as too aged to go to the White House. He is 65 years old. His friends are saying, however, that a "grand old man" at this time would be a salutary thing for America. Mr. Ralston was 61 when he worked after six years' age. His Ralston's strength in Indiana is an asset which the Democrats will not be inclined to overlook. Certainly if he does not win a place at the head of the ticket he would be a likely choice for vice president.

Indiana has a habit of contributing vice presidential candidates and this time would be no exception. Woodrow Wilson's running mate in both terms was Tom Marshall of Indiana. Former Vice President Fairbanks was a native of Indiana. Being in the middle west where the doubtful territory is, both parties have had an eye on Indiana. Senator Ralston would be satisfactory to all elements of the Democratic party as second man. He has not yet taken his seat in the senate but his record as governor, especially his record in bond issues, has been a standing stone in his popularity since he was elected last autumn. He is likely to afford the public a good opportunity to appraise him in the Democratic session of congress this year. If he could help carry Indiana he would strengthen the Democratic national campaign immensely. He seems certain at this writing to be on the ticket.

SUSPECT YOUTH HELD IN MADISON OF TWO MURDERS

By Associated Press
St. Louis, Mo.—Police here are awaiting the arrival of the photographs and fingerprints of a youth held at Madison, Wis., under the name of Tony Forbes, to determine whether the youth is Tony Massud, wanted here in connection with the murder of a policeman and a commission merchant who were slain June 9.

UNKNOWN YOUTH SLAIN IN "FLIPPING FREIGHT"

By Associated Press
Chicago—An unidentified youth, presumed to be Homer Reese of the Chicago Y. M. C. A., tried to "flip" a freight train at Corlies Thursday night while it was traveling at the rate of 20 miles an hour, the velocity throwing him to the road bed, where he landed on his head, breaking his neck. Efforts are being made to locate relatives. The dead lad is between the ages of 16 and 18 years. A letter was found on the body addressed to Homer Reese, Jr., Y. M. C. A., 823 Wabash-ave, Chicago.

Council Asks Water Utility To Use Its Funds To Lay Mains

By Associated Press
Madison—Purchase by Wisconsin of the Northern lakes park tract of 5,000 acres in Price and Sawyer counties was again prevented by Governor Blaine when he vetoed Friday the bill appropriating $300,000 for acquisition of the area for park purposes. A similar bill was vetoed by the governor two years ago after being passed by both houses of the legislature, and for the same reasons set forth in his present message accompanying disapproval of the measure.

WANTS DEFINITE PLAN

Governor Blaine took issue with those supporting the park movement by asserting that the tract is virgin forest of irreparable value. He condemned the policy of purchasing parks indiscriminately without resorting to a definite policy. In his message, the governor took further occasion to express his views on taxation and to direct an attack on newspapers.

POLICE MAY CHARGE WIFE WITH MURDER

Los Angeles, Cal.—The police were expected Friday to place a definite charge against Mrs. Walburga Osterreich who was taken in custody late Thursday on suspicion of murdering her husband, Fred Osterreich, wealthy iron manufacturer of Milwaukee. At the time of the slaying, Mrs. Osterreich said she had been locked in a closet upstairs while her husband was shot to death downstairs, and police advanced the theory that burglars had committed the crime.

Governor Says Other Districts In Wisconsin More Appropriate
By Associated Press
Madison—Purchase by Wisconsin of the Northern lakes park tract of 5,000 acres in Price and Sawyer counties was again prevented by Governor Blaine when he vetoed Friday the bill appropriating $300,000 for acquisition of the area for park purposes. A similar bill was vetoed by the governor two years ago after being passed by both houses of the legislature, and for the same reasons set forth in his present message accompanying disapproval of the measure.

ALDERMEN MEET WITH WATER COMMISSIONERS TO FIND WAY OF EXTENDING WATER SERVICE IN APPLETON

By Associated Press
Appleton—Aldermen and water commissioners met Thursday evening and requested that body to use part of its depreciation fund for additional pipe lines. It took about two hours of discussion before a motion was made by Alderman August Leach, recommending that the water department be authorized to use the depreciation fund for the purchase of additional pipe lines.

FINDS IS OVERDRAWN

Shouldering of part of the water investment burden by the city's utility will relieve an acute situation. The estimate of the finance committee last fall when fixing the tax levy was $25,000 for water main extensions. Figures presented by Mayor Henry Reuter showed that the city must reimburse the water department $33,750.11 for mains already laid or ordered for this season, which is more than $8,000 above the budget figure. This amount is payable by Oct. 1.

YOUTHFUL CAVEMAN BURIED IN DWELLING

By Associated Press
Escanaba, Mich.—Leonard Shadere, 10 years old, is a cave man, and as proof of his claim to the title he has a cave at his home here near the lake. Leonard, who spent many hours in play, Raymond, 12, who preserves a sort of brotherly guardianship over him and when Raymond could not find his younger brother Thursday he went to the cave to look for him and found the cave had caved in. Being a boy scout, he used his head and began digging away the pile of mass of earth. In about ten minutes he found his brother nearly smothered.

LONDON DRAFTS REPLY TO NOTE FROM GERMANY

Covering Document For Allies Requires Much Time In Preparation
London—The cabinet ministers will be busy for the next day or two in completing the draft of the British reply to the German reparations note which is to be submitted to the allies. The document will be accompanied by a covering note detailing for the benefit of the allies, the British government's view on the whole question and this, it is believed, will take more time for preparation than the reply itself, which, according to some reports, virtually has already been drafted.

FRENCH MAKE NEW ADVANCE IN RUHR

Limburg, Barmen and Elberfeld Occupied In Advance Of Troops
By Associated Press
Duesseldorf—The French Limburg, just beyond the Coblenz bridgehead, which the Americans formerly held, was occupied by French troops Thursday as a permanent occupation town. Barmen, in the Elberfeld manufacturing district, also was occupied by a detachment of French troops. Several of the Barmen city officials were arrested, after which the French withdrew.

SMALL COMMUTES DEATH SENTENCE OF MURDERER

Springfield, Ill.—A sentence of death against James H. Smith of Chicago, organizer for the West Cutters union, convicted of killing Frank O'Connell, proprietor of a stock yards cigar store, was Friday commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Small. Twice before the governor had delayed the execution of the sentence by reprieve.

CREAM CITY OFFICIALS SAY BILL WOULD BENEFIT 40 PER CENT OF PEOPLE

DORMITORY PROGRAM SAFE
Legislative Session Probably Will Adjourn Sine Die On Saturday
By Associated Press
Madison—Governor Blaine Friday granted an audience to a delegation of Milwaukee business men and city officials who came to urge the chief executive to veto the Johnson bill providing a $500 exemption from taxation on buildings and improvements on small homesteads. John Harrington, of the state tax commission was the only one present who favored the bill, and said he appeared as a private citizen and not as a representative of the commission.

James Barr, representing the Milwaukee controller's office, said but 40 per cent of Milwaukee lived in their own homes, that 60 per cent lived in rent houses and that the proposed exemption would mostly benefit wealthy landlords. To this he added the argument that the city was now at the limit of its mill taxes, and that there was no way in which it could raise the $200,000 which the exemption provision would lose to the city. It would cripple the city's finances and hurt the schools, he said.

UNIVERSITY DORMITORIES

A dormitory program for the University of Wisconsin was assured Friday with Governor Blaine's signature to a finance committee bill authorizing the university board of regents to enlist private capital in the enterprise.

ADJOURN SATURDAY

Sine die adjournment of the 56th session of the Wisconsin legislature appeared Friday to be assured for Saturday, July 14. This is the same day on which the 121st legislature concluded its session.

AUTO ACCIDENT VICTIM WINS $4,600 IN DAMAGES

Superior—Damages of $4,600 were awarded Mrs. Anna Leinhan, against Ludwig Johnson and August Robert for injuries sustained in a motor car accident last August. Mrs. Leinhan, who was a guest in one of the machines at the time of the accident, asked for damages of $14,000.

CO. D; WITH 70 MEN, STARTS FOR CAMP TOMORROW

Guardsmen Ready For Two Weeks At State Training Grounds

Camp orders for Company D, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National guard, have arrived and the local unit is ready to entrain at 8 o'clock Saturday morning on a special train, over the Chicago & Northwestern road for Camp Douglas, where it will camp for two weeks.

Nearly all of the equipment was packed Thursday night. The company will be in charge of Capt. E. F. Grundeman, who expects to take nearly 70 men with him. Quite a number of recruits have lately been added to the company and this will be their first encampment.

The special train starts from Oconto and will have the Marinette and Oconto companies aboard when it reaches Appleton. Other companies will be picked up along the way and the train will reach its destination at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

GRIND BEGINS MONDAY
The first day in camp is always easy, but on Monday, July 16, the "grind" will commence. The camp will break up on July 26, the men leaving Camp Douglas early in the morning and arriving home about the middle of the afternoon.

The men will be restricted to the coaches they occupy on the trips and must not get off the train at stations without permission from the officers in charge.

Those who will attend the encampment are: Captain E. F. Grundeman, Lieutenants C. S. Schroeder and Harry Kerrigan.

Sergeants Harry Schultz, Ray Mel-don, Fred Wankey, John Hancock, Fred Rogers, George Bellaw, Hubert Plette.

Corporals William Donovan, Willard Stulp, Ivan Bogan, Robert Sanders, Donald Kurz.

Speed Up Ticket Sale For Gouraud Banquet

Neenah Is Preparing Cordial Reception For French War Hero

Efforts are being directed by the Rainbow Veterans association toward disposing of tickets for the banquet to honor General Henri J. E. Gouraud and his party in Elk hall Tuesday evening. The tickets are selling at $5 each in order to raise money with which to defray expenses of the Frenchman and his party to Appleton. The Rainbow Veterans association has pledged $500 to meet traveling expenses and in addition they must pay for decorating the chapel, rent of Elk hall and the cost of the banquet.

Capacity of the banquet hall is 225 persons. There still are a number of reservations left and an effort will be made to dispose of them as rapidly as possible. Reservation can be made by telephoning the chamber of commerce.

WELCOME AT NEENAH
Neenah is planning a cordial welcome for the French and his party when he arrives Tuesday morning. Details have not been worked out but it is planned to give the visitor a routing reception.

While the time which General Gouraud will spend in Neenah is necessarily limited, it will be sufficiently long to enable public recognition of his visit. He is scheduled to arrive at Neenah in his special car over the Soo line at about 9 a. m.

He will be met by reception committees from the Appleton post of the hall where the official greeting of the American Legion and James P. Hawley Post of Neenah. General Gouraud will then be conducted by motor up Main-st and Wisconsin-ave thence south on Commercial-st to the city city will be accorded him.

The American Legion, post at Neenah through its commander, Carl Loehning, has made the request that stores and residences along the streets through which General Gouraud and his party will pass be fittingly decorated.

The French tri-colors will be used. The line of travel will be over Main-st, Wisconsin-ave and North Commercial-st.

REACTOR COW IS NOT TOTAL LOSS TO FARMER OWNER

State Pays Half Of Difference Between Salvage And Appraisal

There seems to be a great deal of misunderstanding regarding the indemnity paid on reactors to the test for bovine tuberculosis, according to Robert A. Amundsen, county agent. Some people are afraid that if a reactor is found, it will be a total loss and hesitate for that reason to have their herds tested.

"When a reactor is found," he said, "the animal is branded as 'tubercular' with a 'T' on the left jaw and a 'reactor' tag in the ear. This prevents the animal from ever being sold for dairy purposes again."

"The animal then is shipped to the stock yards and sold for whatever she brings for meat. If the whole carcass is condemned it goes in the soap and fertilizer vats. If, as is usually the case, parts of the carcass are healthy they are utilized. The owner gets what the animal brings at the stock yards, plus one-half the difference between the salvage and the appraised value."

"Thus if a reactor is valued at $65 and brings $35 at the stock yards, the owner will receive from the state and federal governments bear all of the cost of the difference between $65, the appraised value, and $35, the salvage, which would be half of $30, or $15 as indemnity, which, together with the $35 salvage makes a total of $50 for the owner on an animal valued at $65."

"If 60 per cent of the cattle owners petition for the test the state and federal governments bear all of the expense of making the test and also pay the indemnity."

SOO LINE MOVES TO HALT GRADE CROSSING ACCIDENTS

Motor buses, jitneys and other motor driven vehicles carrying passengers for hire will be watched by all Soo line officials in order that violations of the new statute which requires such vehicles to come to a full stop when approaching railroad crossings may be reported. A general order has gone out to Soo line officials instructing them to report all violations to the main office of the railroad at once.

The statute requires passenger vehicles to come to a full stop not nearer than 20 feet nor farther than 40 feet from the railroad crossings. Reports made by the officials will be turned over to the proper authorities for action.

HAY ALMOST ALL IN BUILDINGS NOW

Turn Of Weather Has Helped Grain, Corn And Cabbage Crops In County

Haying will be completed on most farms in the county this week unless there is considerable rain within the next day or two. Most of the crop has been cut. The crop is light, compared with other years because of the protracted dry spell.

Rains and cooler weather arrived just in time to help the grain crop. It was feared that the grain would not fill out because of the drought, but farmers find it heading nicely. It is short, cutting down the straw, but the grain itself will harvest to a good average if conditions continue right.

Some of the older farmers declare the corn has not grown as well in years as this summer. Warm weather always helps the crop, and the heat made it spring up rapidly. The rains came just in time to moisten the hardening fields.

The cabbage fields also look excellent. Farmers were obliged to use large quantities of water in planting so the sets would not die, and the plants now are large enough so their growth will be unimpeded.

APPLETON SENDS TWO TO LIBRARY MEETING

Miss Florence Day and Mrs. F. J. Harriman of the public library are planning to attend the third annual library conference at Madison July 16-18. It is not likely that any of the trustees will attend.

The conference will be of utmost value to those who attend as there will be lectures upon new library methods, library administration, book use and kindred subjects.

One of the prominent speakers from out of the state will be Samuel H. Ranck, librarian of the Grand Rapids, Mich., public library and chairman of the American Public Library association committee upon library revenues.

Fewest Accidents In Heavy Traffic Zones

Appleton's yearly total of automobile accidents will be cut to a minimum with arterial highways, Mayor Henry Reuter believes. Conditions will be the same here as in large cities, he thinks; namely, that the heaviest traffic centers will be the safest instead of the most dangerous.

The mayor has found in his study of traffic that 60 per cent of the accidents in the average city occur in the residence districts, the supposed quiet locality where children are supposed to be able to play unmolested by a large number of automobiles.

It is found by statisticians, for instance, that some of the busiest corners in the world have a record of no deaths by traffic accidents. This is because of regulation that gives the autoist and pedestrian a chance to pass without fear of being molested by the other fellow.

There were 14,000 deaths in automobile accidents last year and a nationwide movement is on foot to teach the public caution at the unguarded corners in the outlying districts. Every person and driver must be his own policeman there, the saying goes.

Arterial highways will leave no question as to the rights of those using or crossing such streets. With everybody on guard to protect himself, it is thought that few will be victims of collisions or other accidents.

COUNTY WILL ADMINISTER DEAF AND BLIND MONIES

Outagamie-co with all the other counties of Wisconsin, will very shortly take over the affairs of the deaf and blind dependents within its jurisdiction from the state bureau.

Monday Governor Blaine signed a bill which gives the county boards a special commission for administration of all funds for these wards of the state.

County boards are authorized to appoint a practicing physician to be known as the "examiner of the blind and deaf."

WE are digging holes and setting poles for the telephone lines going out to the new subdivision.

When I first started to work for the Telephone Company we used to dig holes with hand tools. About two holes a day was all a good man could do. With this machine we can drill a hole and set a pole in three minutes and then move right along to the next position. It's a fine little time and labor saver.

Of course we can't use this machine in the crowded cities but out here in the country where we've got the room it does a fine job. We can go right along mile after mile, doing as much in a day as could be done in a week under the old system.

I'd like to tell you more about this job but you see we are now ready to move. Just remember that we telephone employees try to do our work efficiently, and well.

BOOKS READY FOR BOARD OF REVIEW

Sessions Will Be Held For Two Weeks Beginning Monday Of Next Week

Assessment records for the entire city will be in readiness before the end of the week for the board of review when it begins its meeting next week to hear objections to the valuation fixed for next year's taxation. A. C. Rule, city assessor announces. The board will be in session for two weeks. The meeting was scheduled for the first two weeks in July but was adjourned until the books were ready.

Assessments were made 10 per cent higher this year to comply with a basis of valuation ordered by the Wisconsin tax commission.

Appleton lodge is entitled to eight delegates and will be accompanied by a delegation of more than 25 members. Questionnaires have been mailed to all lodges of the state to ascertain the number each will send to the convention and what lodges will send drill teams. The entertainment part of the program will include a boat ride on Lake Mendota and an immense Elks' barbecue. A memorial tree in honor of world war heroes probably will be dedicated.

OSHKOSH PEOPLE KICK ABOUT STREET

Appleton Also Has Complaint Over Condition Of Streets

Oshkosh residents are beginning to complain of the condition of Jackson-st. from the Oshkosh city limits to New York-st., declaring that it is so full of holes that it is almost impassable to automobiles. Their principal objection is that it makes a most unfavorable impression on visitors arriving over that road.

The city commission is to be asked to make repairs as soon as possible. Appleton people also have just reason to complain of the condition of some of the streets which lead into their city from state highways. Lem-inwah and Owaissa-sts are in terrible condition, full of holes and exceedingly narrow. Motorists approaching Appleton from the north cannot help but get an unfavorable impression of the city.

Second-ave. east from Richmond-st. also is in poor shape. These streets have been neglected so long that it probably will require considerable money to put them in any kind of condition.

Alkali in Soap Bad for Washing Hair

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

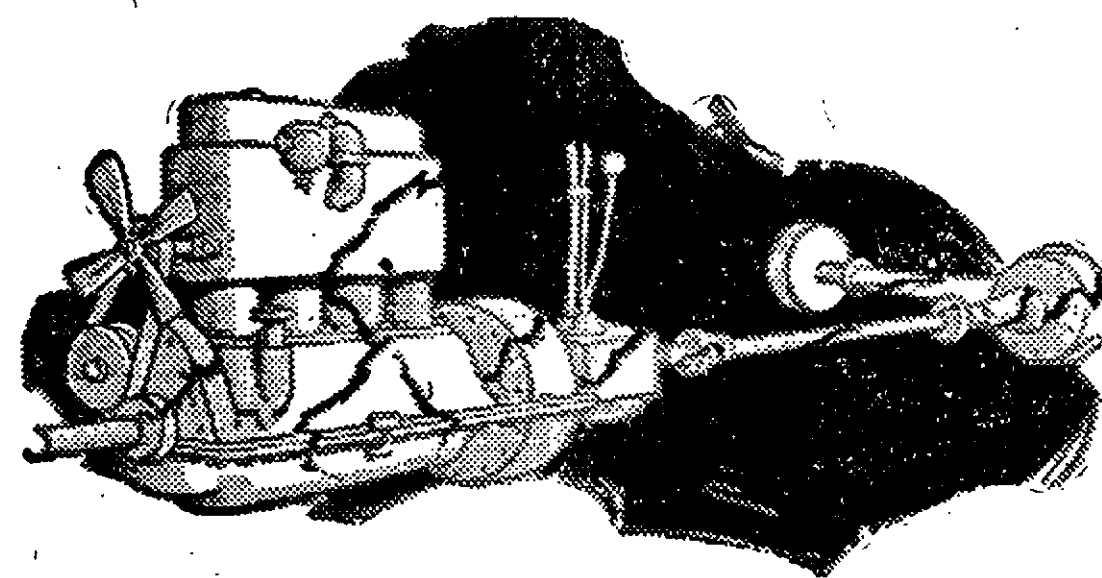

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily.

The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright,

Buffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Beware the Cracks in Your Power Line

NO, you'd never dream of driving farther than the nearest repair shop, if the smallest flaw developed in your running gear!

Yet perhaps you've never considered the fact that motor fuel is part of your power line. That there is just as much need for full, unbroken thrust of explosion above the piston as there is for rigid, slackless transmission of the power to the wheels.

Poor fuel can't give it. Its chemical make-up is full of gaps. The rifts and dead spots in its flame progression convert each explosion into a bumpy succession of slack-and-thumps, as harmful to your sensitive motor as "backlash" in your transmission line. On the other hand—

THE HARD COAL REPORT
It is human nature to save the most difficult task until the last, and the Federal Coal commission appears to be no superhuman exception. It had two chores thrust upon it: The determination of a proper remedy for conditions in the soft coal industry, and a similar study in the hard coal industry. It leads off with hard coal.
The anthracite coal business is run more efficiently than the bituminous industry. It is confined to the state of Pennsylvania. Instead of an over-supply of labor the commission finds a need for more of it. Men can make annual earnings of from $1,500 to $2,000 if they will work the year around. The country's demand for hard coal is so great that the companies, if they could find the labor, could produce profitably much more coal than at present. They could use double shifts.
Neither great profiteering nor exceptional wage difficulties are found in the hard coal industry, and the best suggestion the commission makes for keeping the price down is that the public buy more substitutes—in other words to save on hard coal and buy soft coal or coke.
That is exactly what thousands of Americans, regardless of ruin to furnishings and the greater trouble of keeping a fire, have been doing for some years. Annually, or nearly so, a serious bituminous strike handicaps them even in this thrifty arrangement. The soft coal problem, to which the commission politely passes us on, is much more serious than the hard coal problem.
Soft coal production, far from being confined to one state, is scattered from coast to coast and top to bottom of the Union. Four times as much bituminous as anthracite is mined every year. American homes depend upon it. Instead of requiring more miners the soft coal industry is surfeited with them; there are too many mines and too many men; there is the sore issue of the United Mine Workers and their policies, and of despotic ownership in some fields; an aggravated wage and strike problem; and exceedingly irregular and inefficient production.
The coal commission has given us a look at the hard coal frying pan, and advised us to hop into the fire. Now for a soft coal report.

ABOLISHING THE TWELVE-HOUR DAY
Though the promise of the steel interests to discontinue the twelve-hour shift must be accepted as being sincere there is no reason to doubt that it is discounted by its modification. It is a very shrewd promise, as its condition is that it will be carried out when circumstances of employment are most favorable.
It is a shrewd promise in that it will minimize or altogether stop criticism of the steel interests. Have not the steel interests promised that they will abolish the twelve-hour day as soon as they possibly can? Is it possible for them to promise more? They have given their word, and they will keep it. As soon as the government, which asked them to make the change, enables them to obtain a sufficient number of workmen, they will fulfill their pledge.
It is a shrewd promise in that it calls attention to the immigration laws as having the effect of curtailing the labor supply. It puts on opponents of the twelve-hour day the responsibility of having the laws amended.

In another way, however, it is not a shrewd promise. It will strengthen antagonism to proposed alteration of the immigration laws. If abandonment of the twelve-hour shift would mean a large labor surplus, it would point to reduced wages. Anyhow, the steel interests are in position to say that they are willing to satisfy public opinion and have promised to do so as soon as they possibly can. This is the exact status of the twelve-hour day.

SPLIT IN THE FARMER-LABOR PARTY
The radical communist group and the conservative socialist group in the farmer-labor party decided at the Chicago convention to disagree. The Russian-tainted section formed the Federated Farmer-Labor party, while the so-called conservative aggregation is to be known as the Farmer-Labor Party of the United States.
The difference between the two groups is really only a difference in the degree of radicalism. Neither does or can represent either the farmers or the workmen. Fundamentally, both are socialist, both are radical, and they are not promoting the interests of farmers and workmen, but are opposing the capitalist system.
The division is the first of a series. The farmer is a capitalist. The workman aims to be. There is no capitalist so pronounced in his capitalism as the farmer, who owns the soil and takes pride in his proprietorship. If there is a more intense capitalist than the farmer it is the workman, for he desires to become a proprietor.
In this land every citizen has many good and fair chances to develop into the capitalist class. Statistics indicate that wealth is more widely distributed than ever in the United States, and the man who cannot rise to financial independence here could not do so anywhere.
The two farmer-labor parties must be looked at as two socialist organizations. The difference between them is that one is more radical than the other.

PURE DEMOCRACY
"It is up to the American people," said former Vice President Tom Marshall in an address recently, "to determine whether they care to maintain this old system of government which preserved the life, liberty and property of its citizens, or whether they are to plunge themselves into the experiment of a pure democracy where the shifting tides of the passion of self interest or class interest vary standards from day to day."
There are many indications of a trend toward "pure" democracy, which has a tremendous attraction for demagogues and for people who have not been assimilated into American life and tradition and do not know what a tragedy it would be. "Bloes" raising class interest above national interest are a gentle push in that direction. Measures to destroy the national party system and substitute a class division form a stronger current. The meaning of the word "republic" is less perfectly understood, it seems, with each passing year. The purposes of the Constitution are less appreciated. The reasons for our prosperity—representative government by the sound judgment of a picked few rather than mob government by rudderless and whimsical crowds—are too seldom considered.
Out in Oklahoma the idea of "pure democracy" is getting a partial trial. Governor Walton, who picturesquely invited everybody to an inaugural barbecue and no doubt thinks he is acting directly in line with the best American principles, has fired the president of the Oklahoma Farmers and Mechanics' college and placed in his chair not a competent educator or administrator, but a Nonpartisan league agitator and organizer with less education than the students.

THE FRAIL SCHOLAR
Were it not for the annual vacation, a custom curiously surviving, no doubt our pedagogues would solve the crowding problem by killing off a large share of the pupils. The vacation time is when the schoolboy and schoolgirl recover some of the strength and health lost at school.
The repressions and restrictions of the old time schoolroom are still de rigueur in many modern schools—modern as to building and equipment, at any rate. The martinet still flourishes in common schools and high schools. A whisper is still a penal offense. In short the schoolmarm in skirts or trousers is still up to all the old tricks of the trade, a favorite trick being the finding of excuses to keep pupils after school, or if that can't be worked, then so arranging the lessons as to insure not less than an hour of homework each night.
School children who are not sick enough to be under the doctor's care yet are "not strong" may be generally described as having malnutrition. The chief causes of malnutrition are (1) physical defects, especially nose and throat obstructions (of which the foul air of the schoolroom is an important causative factor.) (2) faulty health habits (such as getting to bed too late or getting up too early in the morning.) (3) lack of proper home control, (such as allowing children under 16 to have tea or coffee instead of milk which is the health beverage for children. Improper diet, (such as the use of such stuff as mustard on the hot dog, to conceal as much as possible the unfitness of the food, as in some school cafeterias.) (5) fatigue, (such as insisting on an hour of "homework" over and above the ordinary school hours.)
Fatigue is what the antediluvian school teacher deems good medicine for the pupil, who, as the teacher sees it, would otherwise be likely to fritter away the rest or recreation time at some mischief. "Homework" is therefore insisted upon in direct ratio with the low opinion of the school authorities for the home environment of the pupil. In New York state the school authorities consider the general environment pretty bad, for a New York high school principal informs me that the state education authorities insist on at least two hours of homework daily for pupils in high school. In some of the better conducted high schools in the west however, the home environment seems to enjoy the approval of the school authorities, for there is no homework required or permitted.
I am not harping on this point merely for the pleasure of critiquing teachers or schools, but because it is an important factor in the causation of malnutrition, from which state at least one-third of all school children in the country suffer, irrespective of the poverty or wealth of parents. And the homework evil, along with other encroachments of the schools upon the proper rest and recreation time of the pupil, should be frowned upon more than it is by parents who have the happiness, the health and the success of their children at heart.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Wisdom: Tooth Culture
You say in substance that examination of a large series of individuals proved that from one to all four wisdom teeth are not cut in 49 per cent of adults of the age of 25 years, and that it is a wonder we ever cut any wisdom teeth at all, considering the food we eat. What should we eat in order to cut and preserve the wisdom teeth?—M. F.
Answer—The skin of potatoes (baked) with the potato. Just plain wheat ground in your own coffee mill or ground for you, but with nothing removed, not even the bran. Corn similarly prepared. Unpolished rice. More fresh fruit and more varieties of fruit in all seasons. More fresh vegetables and more varieties of vegetables every day, particularly raw cabbage, lettuce, celery and the greens, asparagus, spinach, etc. These foods give the molars proper work to do, supply them calcium and phosphorus and vitamins essential for the development of sound teeth.
Map Making
In drawing maps I use a magnifying glass for the finer detail work. Is this harmful to the eyes?—K. A.
Answer—Not if you have no uncorrected defect of vision.

CITY ASKS STATE AID FOR ROAD, NOT FOR NEW BRIDGE
Believe State Will Assist in Paving New Artery Through This City
Federal, state and county aid in construction of Cherry-st bridge itself were not included in the application sent by the city of Appleton to the Wisconsin highway commission, according to Mayor Henry Reuter. The funds which the city is asking are to be appropriated toward the pavement north from Cherry-st highway to the bridge, and Cherry and Richmond streets from the bridge to Second-ave. "The building of the bridge is a matter for the city itself," said the mayor. "That is all taken care of by our own taxes and we are asking nothing from the state to help pay for it. But I have learned that it is possible to obtain federal, state and county aid in paving the streets both ways from the bridge, if the state can be convinced that highway 15 should be routed there instead of through the death gap in the 'flats'."
Mayor Reuter believes there will be little argument as to the advisability of the change of routes once the highway commission sees the blueprint which has been prepared, showing both arteries. The taxpayers can be saved a large sum if this can be brought about, because a large outlay of money will be required to surface this expanse of streets from one end of the city to the other, in order to accommodate the resulting traffic.
"We could not ask for this aid as long as the possibilities of building the bridge were indefinite," the mayor remarked. The bridge construction is under way, and its presence there creates the necessity for the adjoining highways. Now we want to get the benefit of the outside help if we can."

DEPERE FAIR TO BE BIGGEST EVER
Plans already are being made for the Northeastern Wisconsin fair to be held on the grounds between Green Bay and DePere, which fair officials say will outclass all previous fairs held, in exhibits, entertainments and crowds, according to Secretary Herb J. Smith, DePere.
Monday, Aug. 27, will be entry day only. The complete program of entertainment will be presented on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of the same week.
Free attractions include the celebrated Mangen troupe of nine actors; Kerslake pigs, possessing extraordinary intelligence; the Aerial Youngs, performing on trapeze at lofty heights, and the Jack Moore trio, sensational wire aerialists. The Theatre-Duffield fireworks Co. again will present a display of fireworks each evening.
The race program has been arranged and courses of $3,500 with added money will be offered. This amount will be equal to $5,500 in purses under the old plan of racing. The prizes range from $300 to $500 in the following events: 2:22 trot, 2:15 pace, 2:30 trot, Tuesday; 2:30 pace, 2:24 trot, 2:20 pace, Wednesday; 2:23 pace, 2:18 trot, 2:12 pace, Thursday.

FORTY APPLETON SINGERS TO TAKE PART IN BIG FEST
Manitowoc To Entertain Saenger Bazirk Saturday And Sunday
More than 40 members of Appleton Maennerchor and Ladies choir will leave at 7 o'clock Saturday morning for Manitowoc to attend the Wisconsin saengerfest. The event is one of the biggest singing festivals in Wisconsin and will be held Saturday and Sunday. The trip will be made in motorbuses and automobiles.
A chorus of nearly 400 voices will take part in the program Sunday. Fifteen singing societies from Appleton, LaCrosse, Eau Claire, Merrill, Wausau, Marinette, Fond du Lac, Milwaukee, Waukesha, Sheboygan, Green Bay, Chilton, and Kiel will be represented. Appleton singers will render several selections at the banquet Saturday night at which O. W. Schaefer of Appleton, president, will be one of the speakers.
A reception will be tendered the visitors Saturday morning and in the afternoon the mass choir will hold its final rehearsal. The banquet in the evening will be followed by dancing.
MEET SUNDAY MORNING
The business session will be held Sunday morning. The big festival parade will take place at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and will be headed by the Marine band. The annual picnic will be held at Lincoln park.
The mass choir, under the direction of Prof. George Urban of Manitowoc, will render a concert at 3 o'clock and will be accompanied by the Marine band. The program will include "Hindus zum Wald," "Frühling am Rhein," "Abends," "Gruesse an die Heimst," and "Schlachthymne auf Reineke." Quite a number of Appleton people are planning to attend the concert.

MERCHANTS PLAN DOLLAR DAY SALE
Plans for a cooperative bargain week from July 23 to Aug. 4, inclusive were made at a special meeting of the retail trades committee of Appleton Chamber of Commerce in its assembly room at 9:30 Friday morning. Friday and Saturday of the week have been designated as "dollar days," when special bargains will be offered for a dollar.
Harvey Schlitz was made chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements and special advertising. He will be assisted by Ralph Gee, Charles Hopfensperger, Julius Kopplin, H. A. Tunison, George Dams and Gerald Galpin. The meeting was called by John H. Neller, chairman of the retail trades committee.

BEG PARDON
Albert Laabs denies he has any connection with the so-called carnival grounds in the Fourth ward nor with the granting of carnival licenses, as was stated in a reader advertisement appearing in The Post-Crescent on Thursday.
Through an error, The Post-Crescent stated on Thursday evening that plans had been made for a camping trip for Boy Scouts and Camp Fire girls at Onaway Island. The camp is for Girl Scouts and Camp Fire girls.
Meeting of Directors
The regular monthly meeting of trustees of the Aid Association of Lutherans began at 9:15 Friday morning in the directors room of the association building. The admission new members and the paying claims occupied most of the day. Quarterly auditing of the books of secretary and treasurer took place.

VACATION TRIP ENDS WHEN CAR RUNS INTO FENCE

John J. Martin Of Cicero, Ill.,
In Serious Condition In Hospital

A vacation automobile trip to Eagle River terminated abruptly at Appleton for John J. Martin and family of Cicero, Ill. Mr. Martin was taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital after his machine turned over on Mackville road about two miles north of the city about 5:30 Friday morning. His injuries are serious. Other occupants of the car suffered minor bruises and cuts.

Mr. Martin was accompanied by his wife and baby and J. Zaring of Chicago and Mrs. Martin's brother, a boy of about seven years. They started from Appleton after breakfast, expecting to finish their trip to the northern lakes by evening.

Mr. Zaring's version of the accident is that Mr. Martin was driving the car and was passing two or three automobiles going in the same direction. He was unable to say just what happened to the machine, however. Mrs. Martin apparently was nervous and was steering a zigzag course. The machine suddenly plunged into the ditch, turned over and landed upright against a fence.

Mr. Martin was in the front seat beside his wife and was holding the baby. It is believed that he was thrown against the windshield as it was shattered, for his head was badly cut. He also had a severe wound in the side. He was unconscious but rallied by the time Kunitz ambulance arrived to take him to the hospital. Mrs. Martin was unhurt and the baby had only a slight bruise on one wrist. Mr. Zaring had bruises on his head and neck and suffered a painful blow on his right leg. The boy had a slight laceration on the head. A 5-passenger touring car, was torn off and the windshield was broken. The body of the car also was dented badly. It could be operated, however, and was driven to Appleton by Mr. Zaring.

MAYOR OPPOSED TO WATER EXTENSIONS ON VACANT STREETS

Laabs Says Mayor Should Have Consulted Committee
Before Veto

Mayor Henry Reuter's veto of the common council's program of water mains extensions was injected into the discussion at the joint meeting of the council and the water commission Thursday evening by Alderman August Laabs.

The alderman declared that the mayor should not have vetoed the measure before he had talked it over with the fire and water committee, of which Mr. Laabs is a member. He declared that the committee could show the wisdom of the extensions and the urgent need for them.

Mayor Reuter declared he had obtained a list of the proposed mains and had personally examined each street where they were to be located. He found only one application in the group that possessed any merit, and that was on Rogers-ave. Some streets had no houses or only one or two, and some had no sewers or other improvements.

Alderman Laabs asked the mayor to name the streets with no sewers. The only one mentioned was South River-st. and Mr. Laabs declared that the taxpayers there had wanted a sewer for the last two years, but the city had not been in shape to give it to them.

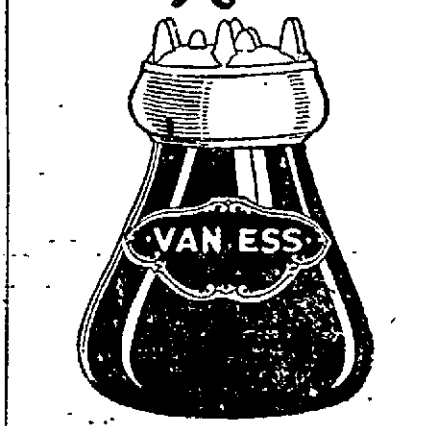

The extensions represented an outlay of $12,000 to $15,000, which Mayor Reuter believed the city could not afford to expend at this time of financial stringency in the city treasury.

Rainbow Vet In Berlin May Be Guest Here

Lieut. J. J. Williams of Berlin will probably be one of the guests in the city on July 17 when Gen. Gouraud and Col. William Donovan are the guests of the Rainbow Division veterans here. Lieut. Williams, who was in the 165th Infantry when Col. Donovan was its major, has written to the Appleton Chamber of Commerce for information about the celebration. He said that he was a member of the Rainbow Division association of New York, but was not able to get back for many of its celebrations and would enjoy being present at the reception for the military men in Appleton.

entertained at a wiener roast Thursday evening. Following the roast, dancing and games were enjoyed at the home of Albert Tillman. Fifteen guests were present.

The Woman Power of America is well illustrated by the thousands of women who are entering every profession, almost every line of business and politics as well. They are bound to make good, and there is no question but what health is their greatest asset. Many women, however, develop weak, nervous conditions and cannot stand the strain of a professional or business life. Such women should remember when beset with headaches, bycatches, nervousness, irritability or any ailment peculiar to their sex that the greatest of all remedies for such conditions is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For nearly fifty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring the women of America to health and strength. It holds the remarkable record of helping 98 out of every 100 women who try it.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS POSTPONE VALLEY PICNIC

TOURIST CAMP IS TOURIST FAVORITE

Kaukauna—The new tourist camping grounds located near Black's woods on property purchased some time ago by the city for park purposes is rapidly growing in favor and is among the best equipped and conveniently located stopping places on highway No. 13. The park is just a short distance off the highway in the north-west end of the city and is reached by means of a newly constructed road. The park has been laid out along the river bank which at that point is only slightly higher than the level of the water. The new road has been graded down and covered with cinders. A neat little bridge has been built over a little gully.

Benches and tables have been provided and waterworks installed. A Dutch brick oven has been built and there are plenty of loose brick piled near so each party may build its own fireplace.

Electric lights are to be strung about the camp which contains several acres.

The Badger's Newest Product "THE BADGER SUPREME" The Newest In Furnaces

Ever since we have been in the furnace business, we have planned and looked forward to the day when we would have something super in furnaces, and this dream is now realized in our newest product The "BADGER SUPREME" Furnaces.

The "BADGER SUPREME" is absolutely different than any other furnace. It has every modern improvement, and is so designed that it will give an unusual volume of heat, on a small amount of fuel. Even moist temperature can be had in every part of the largest homes.

It has a large air capacity, a large humidifier, capped cement joints, lever shaker, double hot blast connection for burning soft coal, etc.

EXHIBIT MOTION PICTURES TO SHOW RAVAGES OF T. B.

Twelve County Townships Organized For Drive On Tuberculosis

Motion pictures showing all phases of tuberculosis in cattle will be shown at the town hall in Maine, Tuesday evening, July 17; Bear Creek, Wednesday evening, July 18; Nichols, Thursday evening, July 19; Seymour, Friday evening, July 20; and Shiocton, Saturday evening, July 21.

Dr. A. J. Knilans of the National Live Stock Exchange of Janesville will be the principal speaker. He will explain tuberculosis; how the tests are made; how indemnities are paid; and how a county-wide cleanup is conducted.

The committeemen in the different towns that are organized for the drive to secure 60 per cent of the cattle owners to petition for the county-wide cleanup have been appointed.

A personal survey has been made of 12 townships by Robert A. Amundsen, county agent, and a committee-man appointed in each school district in those towns. The southeastern part of the county will be organized after the first 12 towns are under way.

The committeemen by school districts, in the different towns now pushing this work are:

Men who hitherto have held aloof from the call of the nation because they did not find agreeable the idea of painting their faces, soon will have this prohibitive element removed.

A motion picture has been produced, and in fact may be seen today and tomorrow at the Elite theatre, in which none of the cast uses any makeup other than nature's after the application of soap and water. This photoplay is "The Toll of the Sea," the first natural color screen play, and from the perfection of the color process by which it was made there is every indication that the movie in black and white will soon be as out of date as making automobiles without self-starters.

The Technicolor process photographs objects just as they look to the eye, and the illumination is either sunlight or the kind of motion picture studio lights which are known as sunlight arcs. Under either light, makeup would show glaringly, as would the absence of it where a scene in an ordinary motion picture taken under Klieg and Cooper-Hewitts.

"The Toll of the Sea" is remarkable not only for this perfection in color photoplay, but is no less absorbing for its story. The photodrama is based upon an old Chinese legend that for every joy for the sea, brings to one, it brings twice that much sorrow. Frances Marion is the author, and Chester M. Franklin directed the action. The photographic direction is by J. A. Ball. In the cast are Kenneth Harlan, Anna May Wong, Beatrice Bentley, Baby Marian, Etta Lee and Mins Young.

The picture was produced by the Technicolor Motion Picture Corporation and is released by Metro Pictures Corporation.

The many inventions of the process have been made by the engineers of Kalmus, Comstock and Westcott, Inc., with Dr. Daniel F. Comstock the originator and principal inventor and in charge of technical development. The process has been developed from the beginning and commercialized under the engineering executive leadership of Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, now president of the Technicolor company.

SHAWANO LAKE TO HAVE GOLF COURSE

P. G. Schwartz Will Have Charge Of Community Recreation Enterprise

Peter Schwartz, former sheriff of Outagamie-co., is going in for golf this summer, but won't spend much of his time swinging a club on the green. He is to be placed in charge of a public golf course which Shawano Community club is building at Shawano lake.

Mr. Schwartz has opened a store at the lake and the new 9-hole course, with its 40 acres of land, will be located near his place of business. The tract is opposite Shawano-co park and about 600 feet from the lake shore.

The golf project is financed by having each person in the community club become a life member through payment of $50. The course will be open to everybody and will be one means of attracting tourists and resorters to Shawano lake. Maintenance will be possible through the charging of a fee for each game.

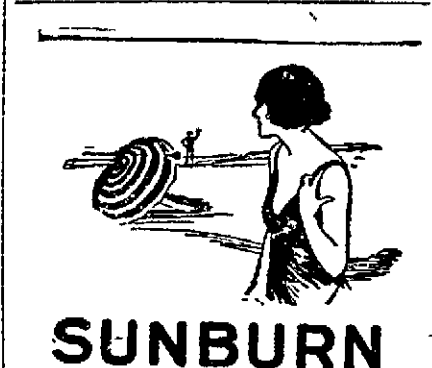

Work has been started on the cottages which Judge Edgar V. Werner is providing for boy scouts and other juvenile campers. A Catholic chapel also is to be built so church services may be provided those who come to the lake. About 70 campers are there this summer, Mr. Schwartz says.

SIGNAL EMPLOYEES ASK FOR INCREASE IN PAY

Wage increases of 13 and 23 cents an hour for signal employees on 15 railroads were asked Tuesday in a petition to the United States railroad labor board by D. W. Helt, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Signal Men.

The petition asks for 23 cents more an hour for gang foremen and 13 cents an hour for signal men, signal maintainers, and assistants and helpers.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul See Line and the Northwestern are among the railroads affected.

Tourist Travel Nears Peak For 1923 Season

Number Of Campers Stopping At Allala Park Is Increasing

The number of tourists stopping at Allala park is constantly growing and it is believed the peak of tourist travel soon will be reached. The big rush of automobile campers started several weeks later this spring than usual, probably because of the unseasonable spring, but the number of travelers now is at least up to last year's record.

George Merkel, caretaker at Allala park, the city's free tourist camp, is caring for from 30 to 40 automobile parties every night. In June the number rarely exceeded 30 but a year ago in June as many as 40 and 45 parties often were in the camp at one time.

22 TOURIST PARTIES Wednesday night the camp housed 22 tourist parties, representing eight states. Tourists registered from Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Kansas, Michigan, Ohio and North Carolina. Four of the parties had been in camp more than 24 hours.

Tourists arrive at the campsite at all hours, often driving in as late as midnight. A camp kitchen is provided for the campers and other conveniences are at hand.

Mr. Merkel is required to have a vast fund of information at his fingertips to answer all the questions that are asked of him. Tourists constantly are inquiring about road conditions and scenic beauties in the vicinity. Mr. Merkel keeps in close touch with conditions of highways so he can send tourists over the best routes to their destinations.

WANT HUNTERS TO USE SKIS IN MARSH

Riparian owners along the Wolf river and the lakes in which it empties are combining to fight the movement in the Wisconsin legislature which is designed to prohibit the use of skis and snowshoes by duckhunters in retrieving ducks that have been shot down. The skis and snowshoes are used by hunters to get into marshes that are not accessible by boat.

Riparian owners contend that if the use of these feet coverings is prohibited, hunters will dig trenches through the marshes in order to get through with their boats and in a short time the marshes will be washed away because the trenches will be widened by high water every spring.

Oshkosh hunters also propose a change in the hunting law which would prohibit hunting for ducks between 4 p. m. and sunrise.

GO TO AUTHORIZED DEALERS FOR HELP

Buick Organization Reaches Into Every Part Of The Country

If at any time there is any question in your mind as to the proper operation of your Buick motor car, visit at once an Authorized Buick Service Station, where you will be served promptly and courteously by men long experienced in Buick principles of motor and chassis design and construction and where you will profit by the use of specialized machinery and the uniform methods in force among Buick dealers everywhere.

This is accessible under all conditions, whether you are at home or on tour. There are thousands of Buick dealers in the United States and a large number of them in foreign countries.

In this country there is a dealer in nearly every hamlet and town, and there are 39 great service depots located in 39 large cities, from which the various dealers radiate. Every Buick dealer carries a supply of genuine parts, if he should be out of a certain part when required, he can telegraph to the nearest service depot and have it in his possession in from two to 24 hours. There is no Buick dealer who is more than 24 hours distant by rail from a main service depot.

MAXWELL CLIMBS UP FAMOUS HILL

Copper Hill In Arizona Is Made "On High" With Capacity Load

To climb to the extreme top of Copper Hill which leads to the famous Copper Chief Mine near Jerome, Ariz., under ideal conditions is considered somewhat of a feat in itself—but to ascend to the summit of this hill without boiling the water in the radiator, (which tends to boil even more easily in high altitudes), when carrying a load of twelve passengers whose gross tonnage aggregated more than 1,900 and to make this trip under the worst possible weather conditions is indeed truly remarkable.

Nevertheless a stock Maxwell owned by the R. D. Motor company, good Maxwell dealers for Phoenix, Ariz., accomplished this feat easily. Rain and melting snow had washed away what little surfacing there was on the road and in many places huge boulders projected six inches above the surrounding surface.

The average steepness of the grade was well over 30 per cent.

This demonstration was to prove the value of the cooling system as well as the hill climbing ability of the good Maxwell.

An affidavit was given by the twelve passengers immediately after the climb to the effect that no water was added to the radiator during the trip. That immediately on reaching the summit the radiator cap was removed and the water was found sufficiently cool to permit the insertion of one's finger without discomfort.

GRID CONSTRUCTION MAKES BATTERY LAST

BY J. J. BURKE

The Diamond Grid, an exclusive feature in the Philadelphia Diamond Grid Battery, differs from other grids in that the members cross each other at angles in the same manner as the structural iron work of a bridge. These angle braces support the plate in every direction against every possible strain. That is why Philadelphia battery plates are so unusually strong.

The Philco Retainer, another exclusive feature in the Philadelphia Diamond Grid Battery, is proving to its many owners that Philadelphia Diamond Grid Battery will go at least two years without any insulation trouble, and many have gone farther without having this trouble. We all know that as a battery grows old the plates shed their active material. That is the life of the battery. That is where the Philco Retainer proves its value. These thin rubber sheets are perforated with narrow slots and are firmly pressed against the positive plates. Although these slots are so numerous that they allow free passage of acid and current, the slots are so narrow that each container is, in effect, a solid wall that holds the active material firmly in place.

FORDSON TRACTOR IS USED IN ASIA

Over in the Caucasus of Asia Minor the Fordson tractor is more than a power plant—it is a land reclaimer and a life saver.

There in the shadow of Mt. Ararat, famed resting place of Noah's Ark, it is the twentieth century mission, and it brings the most striking of all contrasts between modern power farming and the primitive methods in vogue for thousands of years. Introduced to the Caucasus a little over 20,000 miles of highway,

EXPERT WORKMEN IN KISSEL PLANT

Painstaking Care Is Taken To Obtain Perfection In Car Making

At one of the benches in the Kissel engine plant, Hartford, Wisconsin, is a man whose job it is to assemble the various parts which make up a complete connecting rod, fitting each part with delicate accuracy and adjusting each rod to perfect balance. This same man assembled the first connecting rod for the first Kissel automobile ever built, sixteen years ago. He was an experienced craftsman; today he is a genuine car maker—his hands have developed a common-place mechanical process into a fine art—perfect workmanship has become second nature.

At other benches in the same room are men like him—men who have spent five, eight, ten or twelve years in performing certain operations in the production of Kissel motors.

It is the same throughout the entire factory—every laborer has never existed; each man takes a genuine pride in the quality of his work and each man knows but one standard—the highest.

It is only where no machine can be trusted to give the precision and perfection of finish in every detail which distinguishes the cars bearing the Kissel nameplate that skilled hands are employed. At all such points are stationed experienced men who know they are being held responsible for perfection of workmanship rather than quality of output, and who put into each operation as much care as though theirs was the only job to be done in the whole plant.

Nowhere that we know of in the whole automotive industry have efficient high speed production and genuine hand craftsmanship been so well combined as in the Kissel plant. Minutes and motions are saved in hundreds of ways on preliminary operations; then the time thus gained is devoted to the unhurried perfection of every detail that marks the truly custom-built car.

BIG MOTOR GIVES RESERVE OF POWER

Stronger Car Is Assured By Use Of Powerful Engines

By H. M. JEWETT
Pres., The Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co.

The why of a 70-horsepower motor in an automobile normally requiring 25 and 30 horsepower for its work is what I have often been asked to answer.

The enormous reserve of power, it seems, in a 70 horsepower motor would require unusual strength in the chassis. It does, and various different ways are used by manufacturers of high-powered engines, similar to the Paige and Jewett to overcome this strain.

Weight may be added, extra bracing may be run through the frame in the form of cable supports, different types of frame construction are sometimes employed, all with the idea of overcoming the strain of tremendous power driving the automobile forward in reserve.

But, consider how seldom is all of this power employed. When you learn that only 30 horsepower is ordinarily used to drive in the city or through the country under normal conditions, your first thought is: "What a waste of power."

But consider this from the angle, the reserve of power. When you have reserve power similar to that in the motor of an automobile it means that you have longer life in the engine. Due to the necessary build-up of the various parts of the chassis to withstand employment of this power you will find that you get longer life also.

It can be seen that an automobile built to withstand the strain of 65 and 70 miles per hour will last for many years under the present day speed restrictions—35 miles per hour in the country and 15 to 20 in the cities.

To get the speeds exceeding a mile an hour and the unusual qualities of easy riding found in the automobile of today it is essential that high powered motors be used.

More than a year ago by the Near East Relief the tractor has revolutionized agriculture and thanks to it there is no famine this year.

With the tractor and modern farm machinery the fields heretofore only reached by the horse and oxen and even teams, have been plowed deep and with less seed have yielded greater crops than ever before. Hundreds of natives, too, have been released from farm work to enter in industrial pursuits.

A recent note from Erivan, Armenia, tells the story of tractor accomplishments in striking figures. "The American tractor," poughed the hard acres of land in seven days," the message said. "To accomplish the same work in the same time would have required 1,000 oxen and 500 men."

100,000 MILE TEST FOR HUPMOBILE CAR

Machine Has Traveled 40,000 Miles And Still Going Strong

The famous standard stock Hupmobile touring car which broke all non-stop world's records last summer and fall by traveling 26,165 miles in 55 consecutive days without stopping the engine, has a new job.

Owners of the car—the Hyland Motor Co., of Salt Lake City, Hupmobile distributors for Utah and Idaho—plan to run it 100,000 miles to establish definitely its dependability in long and hard service, and to demonstrate that the grueling trip it made through the Inter-mountain Regions of Utah, Idaho and Wyoming did no harm to it. It is probable that a second long run will also be started by the famous car before the end of summer, officials of the company say.

The car has traveled more than 40,000 miles to date, and every day use it has been subject to rigorous travel of all sorts. It has been used extensively for demonstrating Salesmen and officers of the distributing company have also used it on long drives while calling on the dealers in the large territory under their direction. It still carries the original lettering and information concerning its record run and arouses much favorable comment wherever it appears.

Mechanics who have inspected it and men who have driven it of late report that the car is in splendid condition—its vigor undiminished even on the hard pulls, of which there are many in the adjacent mountains. Its engine runs smoothly and powerfully and its driving mechanism is still instantly responsive and dependable.

At the close of its record run last October, Prof. A. L. Taylor, of the University of Utah automotive department, had it torn down and inspected all parts thoroughly. In a signed statement he paid tribute to its splendid condition and the slight wear to its various moving parts. The car, at that time had traveled 33,000 miles, 6,000 having been made before the test started.

During the 58th day of the non-stop run the fan belt broke, causing the engine to become hot. It was necessary to break the seals on the hood and stop the engine a few minutes to install another belt. After the hood had again been sealed the run was continued until a 60-day period had been completed, when 27,096 miles had been made.

The idea of the run was to duplicate as nearly as possible in a short time driving conditions encountered by the average motorist. Gasoline average was 21.5 miles per gallon and oil consumption one quart for each 32.5 miles, according to sworn affidavits.

Plans have been completed for the erection of three foundry units to be added to the main factory of the Cadillac Motor Car company division of the General Motors corporation, according to an announcement Saturday by H. H. Rice, president of the Cadillac company.

These plans are a part of an expansion program by the Cadillac factory covering an increased production schedule. The unprecedented success of the Cadillac in the last two years and the expectation of even greater fall business are given as reasons for the program of expansion.

As soon as these units are added, the Cadillac main factory at Clark and Scofield Avenues, Detroit, will stretch for more than half a mile along the tracks of the Michigan Central railroad and for almost the same distance along the New York Central tracks on the other side. The new foundries will be for the production of gray iron, aluminum and brass castings used in the Cadillac car. Construction is expected to start in the near future.

"With the completion of the new units," said Mr. Rice, "the Cadillac plant will have a foundry not only equal in capacity to its main plant production, but also matching that plant in its lay-out and efficiency, which have been so favorably commented on by many noted experts from this country and abroad."

"We have also just completed a large salvage building at the main factory, thereby releasing additional valuable space for production. Our expansion program is based not only upon our large business in the last two years, but also upon a profound belief in the immediate and future prosperity of America."

AUTO TAX FOR SCHOOLS
The plan of the governor of Pennsylvania to raise $18,000,000 for school purposes by adding another tax on automobiles by the gasoline route, has brought a wave of protest from all parts of the state. A duty of two cents a gallon would be demanded, if the proposed legislation is passed.

Total amount of gasoline consumed in the United States last year was 1,352,000,000 gallons. 20 per cent of which was consumed by automobiles.

Hot weather, just like extremely cold weather, is a danger period in the life of any storage battery unless the proper care is given it. So warns Mr. Schroeder, local Willard service station dealer. "Summer weather is probably the most dangerous time the battery must pass through because the automobile is used during this period. This is the time when overheating a battery is liable to happen," says Mr. Schroeder. "Motorists as an average are prone to forget or neglect keeping the battery filled with pure distilled water in hot weather. If the level of the water is permitted to reach a point

RED RAIL COACHES ARE MAKING GOOD

Flanged Wheel Equipment Becoming Popular; Replacing Street Cars

The latest attempt to use automobile buses on rails in the east occurred on Decoration Day when two Red railway cars were placed in commission at Long Beach, L. I. Last fall when various trolley systems throughout Long Island were being discussed as ancient, dilapidated and costly to operate, A. W. Mayer, president of the Red Jamaica Sales company, conceived the idea that gasoline buses, if used on rails, would meet every requirement of economical and efficient operation.

At that time, according to Mr. Mayer, the City of Long Beach was contemplating the purchase of trolley cars to run on the tracks being laid in their city, but the idea was abandoned and the Long Beach Railway company ordered six Red Railway coaches, two of them are now being operated. Commenting on this new development in railway transportation, Mr. Mayer stated that railway transportation in the United States is passing through a period without parallel in its history and the cause of its radical change was the gasoline motor.

NEW MATERIAL IN BATTERY CASES

A battery case made from Gummite, the latest achievement in the automobile battery industry, has been placed on exhibition at the local Exide Service Co.

A general invitation to car owners to visit the Service Station and inspect the new Exide battery case has been issued by E. M. Schreiner, the manager.

Incidentally, Mr. Schreiner wishes it to be plainly understood that Gummite is neither rubber nor a rubber composition. It is a synthetic material which is stronger and more durable than rubber.

Gummite, which is undoubtedly the most important development of recent years in the automobile battery field, has however, the acid-resisting qualities of rubber or rubber compositions. But a battery case to be ideal must also have strength and rigidity, be immune from heat or cold, and sudden changes of temperature, and be sturdy enough to withstand a lot of bumping and vibration.

Gummite fulfills these conditions exactly and leaves nothing to be desired. It has also stood the test of time and service, thus removing it from the experimental stage. For many years gummite in its basic form has been used successfully for submarine battery jars in the British Navy. It was also thoroughly tried out in actual service for years by the manufacturers of the Exide Battery before it was placed on the American market.

DEMPEY GUEST OF VELIE AUTO CHIEF

Being a man of perfect physique with, naturally, a highly developed appetite, Jack Dempsey, world's heavy-weight champion, likes fried chicken.

So when W. L. Velie, president of the Velie Motor company of Moline, Illinois, put on a dinner at Great Falls, Mont., with this specialty as the feature, and the champ as the honored guest, Mr. Dempsey was more than pleased.

With Jack, as the guests of Mr. Velie, were his sparring partners, trainers and his manager, Jack Kearns. They attacked the chicken from all sides. And they do say a pleasant time was had by all.

Dempey and Velie have become close friends since the pugilist pitched his camp at Great Falls. Velie has a large ranch thirty miles from Great Falls. Dempey plans to go into the cattle breeding business in the near future and he welcomes every pointer from Velie. Dempey admits that Velie breeds fine cattle as well as building fine automobiles.

HOT WEATHER HARD ON YOUR BATTERY

Frequent Inspection By Expert Is Safeguard Against Trouble

Hot weather, just like extremely cold weather, is a danger period in the life of any storage battery unless the proper care is given it. So warns Mr. Schroeder, local Willard service station dealer. "Summer weather is probably the most dangerous time the battery must pass through because the automobile is used during this period. This is the time when overheating a battery is liable to happen," says Mr. Schroeder. "Motorists as an average are prone to forget or neglect keeping the battery filled with pure distilled water in hot weather. If the level of the water is permitted to reach a point below the tops of the plates, the upper portion is left exposed and useless. The covered portion of the plates are then obliged to assume the extra burden of the useless portion. This causes rapid overheating and damage not seen at the time, but which results in considerable expense later.

"Overheating of a battery may result from an undercharged condition continuing for some time. This starved condition may be due to the inexperience or lack of knowledge on the part of the driver, who does not use judgment in operating his lights, or who uses the starter often than necessary."

"When undercharged for some time, plates become hardened and offer greater resistance to the charging current. If therefore a car with a starved battery is taken on a long run, the normal charging rate will produce intense heat in the battery to such an extent that the plates will buckle. If the battery were in a normal healthy condition this would not occur."

Periodic inspection of your battery's condition during hot summer weather by a battery service station who will advise you the exact condition of your battery and when it is necessary for you to use your lights is about the best sort of trouble insurance you can carry, concludes Mr. Schroeder.

TOURING IS GREAT SPORT IN SUMMER

Nash General Sales Manager Says America Has Become Nation Of Autoists

With fine hard roads stretching forth like so many ribbons throughout most sections of the country and with the development of motor cars to a point where they provide luxurious ease of travel and absolute dependability America has become a nation of tourists. The fact is more pronounced this summer, with its vast increase of cars, than ever before.

"Literally hundreds of thousands of cars whose license tags bespeak great distances from home, dot the highways throughout the country during the summer months," says E. H. McCarty, general sales manager of The Nash Motors company. "Along about this time of year it is interesting to note the appearance on the streets of almost any large city license plates bearing the inscription of practically every state in the union.

"Drive for an hour over any of the great transcontinental highways and observe passing cars filled with tourists and note from their license tags the great distances they have traveled entirely independent of former modes of transportation. An Iowa merchant has occasion to go to New York. 'Let's take the children and all go in the car,' suggests his wife. They step into the automobile at their very front door and ride over roads of a kind that only a few years ago were undreamed of.

"The tourist's time is his own and he drives at will. He may stop at a hotel for the night or he may choose an attractive camping site thousands of which are now along the main traveled roads in the country.

"Another interesting phase of summer touring has been the adoption of the fully equipped Sport car as a most desirable type of automobile for cross-country travel. The more thoroughly equipped car is the one best suited for this purpose.

TIRE BLOWOUTS

A tire may be injured and not show any defect. But a serious blowout may occur unexpectedly after several hundred miles have been run following the injury.

FLAT RATE PLAN IN CHEVROLET SHOPS

No Uncertainty About Cost Of Service To Chevrolet Cars

Chevrolet Dealers and Service Stations operate on the Flat Rate Service Plan. This plan enables them to tell you in advance exactly what your repair work will cost.

The cost of repairs depends upon two things: Time required, and cost of the necessary parts. Time required is obtained from a schedule which gives the exact average time needed for each repair job. Cost of necessary parts is obtained from the authorized price list of Chevrolet parts.

It is easy to figure in advance the cost of any kind of repairs when these two factors are known. They take all the uncertainty out of repair work.

This plan eliminates misunderstanding because you know before you leave your truck or car just what the charge will be.

ALDERMEN PROBE CONDITIONS AT CITY POOR FARM

Investigators Find Poorhouse
Clean But Inmates
Dissatisfied

A large part of the discussion centered around two of those who live there. One was the old man whom Mr. Shasky admits should be in an asylum, but whom he said they were keeping because they feared that so old a man would be mistreated at an institution for the insane.

VISIT AT MEALTIME

Members of the welfare council including Mrs. Gustave Keller, Mrs. G. A. Ritchie, Mrs. L. J. Marshall, Miss Susan Anderson, Mrs. Wenzel Hassman, and the Misses Minnie and Dinah Geenen and Mayor Henry Reuter surprised the superintendent and his wife at about 11:40 Thursday morning in an effort to find out what sort of meals were being fed to the inmates. In the afternoon the same women with the exception of Miss Minnie Geenen and Miss Susan Anderson accompanied Mayor Reuter and Aldermen Robert McGilgan, L. O. Hansen, Wenzel Hassman, Walter Schultz, Charles Thompson to the institution again for an interview with Mr. and Mrs. Shasky. On Wednesday evening, however, Aldermen Hansen, McGilgan and Hassman who are members of the poor committee had made an investigation of their own, intending to bring the matter before the next council meeting.

In the morning Mrs. Shasky received her unexpected guests pleasantly and invited them to go on the second floor to visit with the inmates while she prepared the dinner. She went at once to the kitchen and her guests followed her there. One inquired what she had planned to have for dinner and she explained there would be meat, potatoes, beans, lettuce and carrots. She said too, that they were canning beets since there had been no strawberries.

INMATES DISSATISFIED

Inspection showed that the place was kept immaculately clean, but talks with the inmates, many of whom speak German, showed that they were dissatisfied. The clothes which they had were very poor and one night gown, which was said to be the only one which one woman had, was so much in tatters that it could scarcely be called a garment.

The superintendent told of how the man destroys his bedding and of how he pushed a storm window out of the room in which he was and fell on the step below. Mr. Shasky said that the man was only slightly hurt. It was revealed by Mr. Shasky that the man is a county charge for whose care the city receives a monthly check.

FEELBE MINDED GIRL

The discussion of the second inmate was carried on largely by the social workers who claimed she was feeble minded and should be kept in an institution for the feeble minded or at least be given an examination to show the mental level in which she would be classed.

Objection was made to the girl being left alone with the other inmates when the caretakers were not there for the night. It was conceded that Mr. and Mrs. Shasky had not been away often but that it was dangerous to leave the place for the night unless a competent person was left in charge.

ENOUGH TO EAT

Both Mr. and Mrs. Shasky denied that the inmates did not get enough food. Mrs. Shasky said that she kept a menu for the state inspector and that he was entirely satisfied with

RULE EXPLAINS VALUES INCREASE

Assessor Tells C. of C. Why Assessment Is Raised This Year

Directors of the chamber of commerce and other businessmen met in the assembly room of the chamber at 130 Thursday evening to hear Albert Rule, city assessor, explain the reason for the increase in valuation of city property. Mr. Rule showed that the tax commission's value for the city's real estate is $23,000,000, while the city's own valuation of its real estate is slightly more than $19,500,000. Since the city must pay county and state taxes on the tax commission valuation, it has been deemed advisable to raise the valuation and it has been decided that it should be raised 10 per cent.

Besides explaining the reasons for the raise, Mr. Rule showed how the valuation increase would not necessarily mean an increase in property tax. Mr. Rule made his explanation at the request of the directors of the chamber.

Speeder Fined
David Peterson of Neenah, was fined $10 and paid costs of $3.20 in municipal court Friday morning for driving his automobile on Lake-st 30 miles an hour. He was arrested Thursday evening by Joseph Bayer, motorcycle officer.

Miss Marie Lang, who has been visiting Appleton relatives for several days, has returned to Racine.

what the people had to eat. She said too much meat would not be good for the old people and that as Mr. Shasky was trained in diet values, she was sure they had enough to eat. It was suggested however that meat should be served more often than once a week and that beef, pork and other meats be used. Mrs. Shasky explained about the clothing. She said that most of the old people have relatives from which the city gets their clothes and if they want long enough these relatives are sure to take care of them.

Mrs. Shasky denied that the inmates were made to work on Sunday but admitted that she herself does the washing on Sunday; since Saturday is their sabbath. Both denied that the old people ever were struck. Mr. Shasky said the inmates make their own rules, largely.

Robert McGilgan, chairman of the council poor committee, turned the attention of the visitors to the fact that the Shaskys had been the best qualified for the work of four applicants. He said that since they had been there the percentage of sickness had greatly decreased.

WARM DISCUSSION
At times the discussion became more heated than at others. Mrs. Shasky said that she resented the fact that the women came in the morning without telling her what they were there for. Several references were made by the superintendent to the people who "are always so anxious to find fault."

Mrs. Shasky said the inmates had criticized the welfare council because its members did not come and take them to the lake for a good time. When the discussion seemed interminable, Mayor Reuter said that the entire matter could be gone into by the poor committee. It was intimated that the cases of the two inmates about whom there had been so much discussion would be looked into at once.

Mr. and Mrs. Shasky praised J. G. Prell, poor commissioner, whom they said, never restricted their expenditures in any way. They said he had cautioned them to be as economical as possible.

"On the death of my grandfather it was found that he had written a peculiar will; and we also learned that his fortune would prove considerably smaller than his sons expected. However, he left rather more than one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The terms of the will put all his fortune into the power of my Uncle Albert, my grandfather's eldest living son. He told Uncle Albert to divide the total proceeds of the estate between himself and his two brothers as his judgment should dictate, for he knew that Albert was a man of scrupulous honor and would do justly by all. With regard to me, he directed my uncle to set aside twenty thousand pounds, to be given me on my marriage, or failing that, on my twenty-fifth birthday. In the meantime I was to be taken care of by my uncles; and he added that my future husband, if he appeared, must be approved of by Uncle Albert.

"Though jarred to find he would receive far less than he had hoped, Uncle Robert was soon in a good temper, for their elder brother informed Uncle Bob and Uncle Ben, who that he should divide the fortune into three equal parts.

"The war altered everything and created a painful breach between my future husband and my Uncle Robert. The latter instantly volunteered and rejoined in the opportunity to seek adventure.

"My husband had no mind for active warfare. He was delicately built and of a gentle temperament. Uncle Robert, however, made a personal thing of it.

"He represented the situation to his brothers, and Uncle Ben—who had just retired, but who, being long to the Naval Reserve, now joined up and soon took charge of some mine sweepers—wrote very strongly as to what he thought was Michael's duty. From Uncle Albert also declared his mind to the same purpose, and though I resented their attitude, the decision, of course, rested with Michael, not with me. He was only five-and-twenty then and he had no desire but to do his duty. There was nobody to advise him and, perceiving the danger of opposing my uncles' wishes, he yielded and volunteered.

"But he was refused. A doctor declared that a heart murmur made the necessary training quite impossible and I thanked God when I heard it. At my own wish Michael married me and I informed my uncles that he had done so. Relations were strained all round after that, but I did not care, and my husband only lived to please me. The Prince of Wales had been instrumental in starting a big motor depot for the preparation of surgical dressings; and both my husband and I joined this station.

"For nearly two years we stuck to this task, lodging here with Mrs. Gerry. During that time I fell in love with Dartmoor and begged my husband to build me a bungalow up here when the war was ended, if he could afford to do so. His plucky trade with Italy practically came to an end after the summer of 1914. But the company of Pendean & Trecarrow owned some good little steamers and these were soon very valuable. So Michael, who had got to care for Dartmoor as much as I did, presently took steps and succeeded in obtaining a long lease of a beautiful and sheltered spot near Fogginton quarries, a few miles from here.

"Meanwhile I had heard nothing from my uncles, though I had seen Uncle Robert's name in the paper among those who had won the D. S. O. Michael advised me to leave the question of my money until after the war, and so I did. We began our bungalow last year and came back to live with Mrs. Gerry until it should be completed.

"Six months ago I wrote to Uncle Albert in Italy and he told me that he should deliberate the proposition; but he still much resented my marriage. I wrote to Uncle Ben who was at Dartmouth also, who was now in his new home; but while not particularly angry with me, his reply spoke slighly of my dear husband.

"A week ago I was walking out of the post-office, when who should suddenly stop in front of me on a motor bicycle but Uncle Robert? I waited only to see him dismount and set his machine on a rest before the post-office. Then I approached him. He was lodging at Paignton, down on Torbay, for the summer months, and he hinted that he was engaged to be married.

"He had been to see an old war comrade at Two Bridges, two miles from here, and meant to lunch at the Duchy Hotel and then proceed to Plymouth; but I prevailed upon him at least to come and share our midday meal, and I was able to tell him things about Michael which promised to change his unfriendly attitude. When my husband returned from the bungalow I brought them together again. Michael was on his defense instantly; but he never harbored a grievance very long and when he saw that Uncle Bob was not unfriendly and very interested to hear he had won the O. B. E. for his valuable services at the depot, Michael showed a ready inclination to forget and forgive the past.

"I think that was almost the happiest day of my life and, with my anxiety much modified, I was able to enter Uncle Robert's little. He seemed unchanged, save that he talked louder and was more excitable than ever. The war had given him wide, new interests; he was a captain and intended, if he could, to stop in the army. He had escaped marvelously on many fields and seen much service. During the last few weeks before the armistice, he succumbed to gassing and was invalided; though, before that, he had also been out of action from shell shock for two months.

"He talked for hours about the war and what he had done to win his honors; and we noticed particularly a feature of his conversation. His memory failed him sometimes. 'Michael explained to me afterward that this defect was a serious thing and probably indicated some brain trouble which might get worse. I begged Uncle Robert to stop with us for a few days instead of going to Plymouth. We walked out over the moor in the evening to see the bungalow and my uncle was very interested.

"He stopped on and liked to lend a hand with the building sometimes after the builders had gone. He and Michael often spent hours of these long evenings there together; and I would take out tea to them. 'Uncle Robert had told us about his engagement to a young woman. She was stopping at Paignton with her parents and he was now going to return to her. He made us promise to come to Paignton next August for the Torbay Regatta; and I secret I begged him to write to both my other uncles and explain that he was now satisfied Michael had done his bit in the war.

"Last night Uncle Robert and Michael went, after an early tea, to the bungalow, but I did not accompany them on this occasion. They ran around by road on Uncle Robert's motor bicycle, my husband sitting behind him, as he always did.

"Supper time came and neither of them appeared. I am speaking of last night now. I did not bother till midnight, but then I grew frightened. I went to the police station, saw Inspector Halfyard, and told him that my husband and uncle had not come back from Fogginton and that I was anxious about them.

"Mrs. Pendean stopped and Brendon rose. She shook his hand and a fleeting ghost of a smile, infinitely pathetic but unconscious, touched her face. At the police station a car was waiting for Mark and in twenty minutes he had reached Fogginton. Inspector Halfyard rose as Brendon appeared, came forward, and shook hands.

"Have you searched the quarters?"

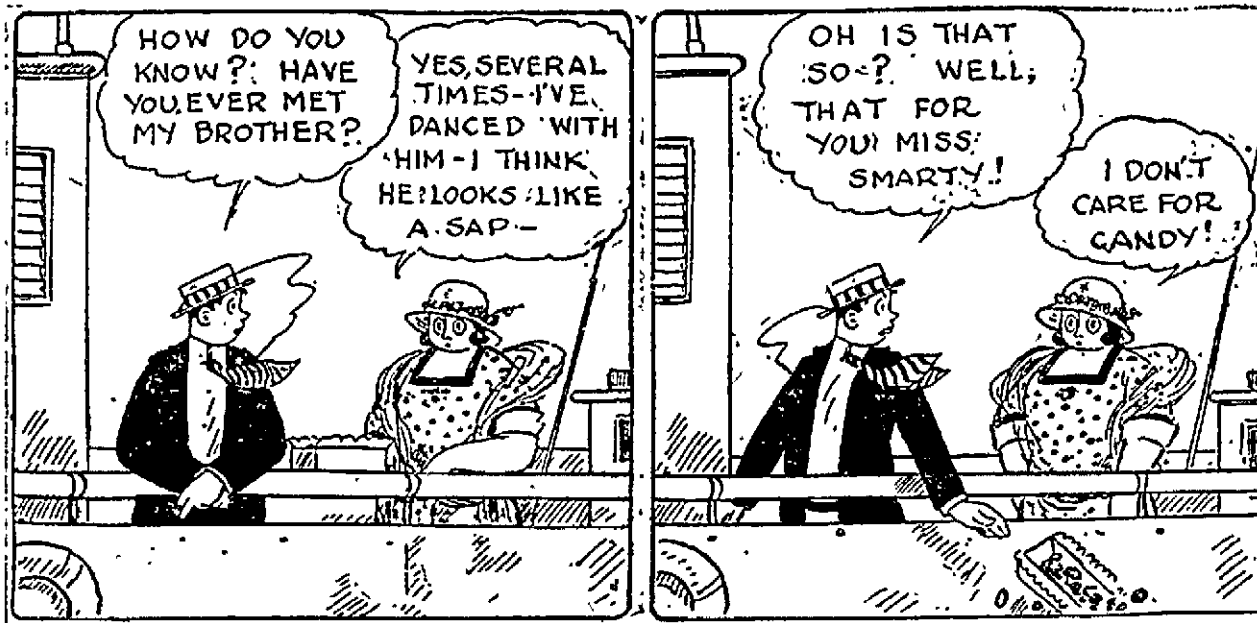

"Come out to the bungalow and I'll tell you what there is to tell. There's been a murder all right; but we're more likely to find the murderer than his victim."

"They went out together and soon stood in the building.

"Now let's have the story from where you come in," said Brendon, and Inspector Halfyard told his tale. "Somewhere about a quarter after midnight I was knocked up. Down I came and Constable Ford, on duty at the time, told me that Mrs. Pendean was wishing to see me. Her husband and her uncle, Captain Redmayne, had gone to the bungalow, as they often did after working hours, to carry on a bit; but at midnight they hadn't come home, and she was put about for 'em. Hearing of the motor bike, I thought 'here might have been a breakdown, if not an accident, so I told Ford to knock another chap and go down along the road. Which they did do—and Ford came back at half after three with very news that they'd seen nobody, but they'd found a great pool of blood inside the bungalow—as if somebody had been sticking a pig there. 'Twas daylight by then and I motored out instantly.

COUNCIL URGES WATER UTILITY TO PAY FOR MAINS

Aldermen And Water Commission Discuss Extension Problem

$52,000, which was invested at once in junior high school bonds of $50,000 par value and about $2,000 premium and accrued interest.

BIG FUND NOT NEEDED

It was believed by the council that $50,000 was enough for the utility to keep on hand for emergencies, and that any depreciation reserve above that amount could be used for extending the pipe lines. The commission itself could add mains according to its available funds, it was said, and would relieve the council at a time when its program was extremely heavy. The council could take care of extensions above what money the plant had, the aldermen declared.

There was a difference of opinion, and it still exists, as to the legality of use of the depreciation fund for extending the mains. The water commission was informed by telephone by the council for the railroad commission Thursday that the city could not take the reserve fund for capital extensions. It had the right to borrow this money, but must do so at the usual rate of interest the same as at a bank and must pay the funds back at a specified time.

Theodore Berg, city attorney, read the law to the council concerning the uses of the depreciation fund as applying to all utilities. The law says the fund may be used for capital extensions such as the council desired. The motion by the council as stated above was based largely on the city's rights under the law. Mr. Berg is in communication with the railroad commission, however, and will attempt to clear up this point before any of the money is spent.

DIFFER ON POLICY

Many angles of waterworks management were aired, because the council and commission have not met together for a long time. Mayor Reuter and Aldermen Wood and Laabs were the chief spokesmen for the council and J. J. Plank, chairman of the water commission, for that body. Mr. Plank and Alderman Laabs had pronounced views as to the basis on which water mains should be installed. The former declared that no investment should be made on any street until enough property owners used water so as to give the utility a reasonable return on the money thus spent. The aldermen declared that a private utility should be run that way because it was sound business, but that a municipal water plant was a community project belonging to all the people, and all should benefit by it, because every property owner contributes to its up-

CONVENTION DELEGATE REPORTS TO CONGREGATION

William Krueger, delegate from St. Matthew church to the Lutheran conference here this week, will give a report of the convention at a meeting of St. Matthew congregation between German and English services Sunday morning. The German service will be concluded at 10 o'clock and Mr. Krueger will make his report before the start of the English service 15 minutes later.

building and maintenance through taxes.

It was intimated that the commission intended to petition for a reduction in rates if the earnings continued at the present rate, because it was not the intention to pile up a depreciation fund beyond a reasonable amount. Alderman Wood argued that it was better to leave the rates up and make the extensions out of the money thus realized, because it was a form of indirect taxation that was not felt as much as an addition to the property levy. Mayor Reuter declared that the city's affairs are in good shape and its credit is excellent. It therefore is not necessary to carry a heavy water department reserve, because the city could readily provide the money required for most emergencies.

A representative of the Royal American shows appeared before the council requesting a license to exhibit here under auspices of Moose lodge. He declared that the shows were in no sense a carnival, and had none of the objectionable features of the usual street show. He offered to pay the expenses of a committee of five to go to Milwaukee to inspect the shows while exhibiting there. The police and license committee was instructed to make the trip and was given power to approve or reject the license application.

Alderman Laabs revived the horse drinking trough matter and retention of the fountains was discussed but no action taken.

POWER CO. DEAL INVOLVES MILLIONS

Minneapolis, Minn.—Sale of the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company, a deal involving millions of dollars, virtually is assured, according to a story published in the Minneapolis Tribune Thursday.

Robert F. Pack, vice president, of the Northern States Power company admitted that negotiations were in progress for the purchase of the Wisconsin company and said that while the deal has not been actually consummated there is reliable assurance that the transfer will be completed. Formal announcement will not be made until next week, he said.

The Wisconsin-Minnesota company serves 72 towns in Wisconsin and Minnesota and owns extensive hydro-electric facilities in Wisconsin.

RELOCATED HIGHWAY 17 TO BE OPENED IN JULY

The relocated state trunk highways 17 and 56 at Manitowoc will be opened to traffic at the end of this month, according to word received here that the contract would be completed this week.

A stretch section of approximately 300 feet including the stretch between a relocated bridge which has been completed and the old concrete and a stretch on the north end of the bridge where it was necessary to make a heavy fill will be allowed to remain open and will be built late in the fall when the fill will have settled.

PREPARE TO FILL RAVINE NEAR ST. JOSEPH SCHOOL

Dennis Carroll, former member of Appleton police force, is planning to fill in the ravine back of his wife's residence property on Lawrence-st immediately west of the big ravine and with this object in view is constructing a heavy bridge or driveway from the sidewalk back to the ravine for the accommodation of motor trucks loaded with earth, ashes or any other sanitary filling. A bumper is being placed at the end of the structure to prevent possibility of accidents. The dumping ground will be for the use of the public.

Can't Beat Wife Out Of Using Car

I've met a lot of illustrious men in my day. Once I shook hands with a fellow who climbed up the side of a thirty-story building. In fact, I believe I was the last one he ever did shake hands with. I've met famous millionaires and infamous murderers. I've visited with great generals and near-great statesmen. There are lots of actors, authors and baseball players that I always greet by their first names. But of all this distinguished bunch, I've never yet met a man who could beat his wife more than twice running, playing that popular family game entitled: "Who is to Have the Motor Car Today?"

Last summer I decided to give my feet a vacation and quit supporting the traction interests. So I up and buys a Durant Touring Car.

A great investment," says the wife when I drives it home. "Now you are really one of them high powered business men we always read about."

"It's going to help a lot," I admit. "ought to be able to double my sales the next six months."

"Fine," says she, "I'll start looking around for a better apartment right away."

Then I jams on the brakes by saying, "Don't count your chickens until they hatch!" and lets it go at that.

But it misses her completely. "What?" says she, getting real excited, "you don't mean to tell me we're going to keep hers?"

Can you beat it?

It must have been all of ten minutes later that the big inspiration comes to her. "Well, dear," she purrs, "now that we've got a car, I must learn to drive! Of course, I'd never dare to take it out alone, but it would be nice if I were able to handle it, so when you're tired I could do the driving for you!"

That was the beginning. Of course, I had to teach her to drive. And let me say right here that those birds that are continually yelping that there ain't a woman born who can handle contented cows"—Carnation Milk is simply whole cows' milk with about 60% of the water removed by evaporation. It is hermetically sealed and sterilized. Thus nothing could be purer. And no food could be more nutritious.

WHERE TO MARKET

I gets in my dress suit, silk hat, cane and all and starts down the stairs barefooted.

The wife is wise something's wrong and trails me. But I pretend I don't know it and walks right out on to the lawn. When she sees me standing there, passing the time of day with a sunflower, she gives one shriek and phones for the Doc.

"What he needs," says Doc, as he looks me over, "is absolute rest and quiet. Keep him out of doors a lot."

I begin to take an interest in the world again and says, "Guess I'll take the car and run out to the country a couple of days. When I get back I'll drive to the office every morning. Fresh air, that's what I need." Doc starts to agree, but the wife cuts him short. "You'll do nothing of the sort," she says. "Your nerves are in no condition to drive a car now. What we'll do is to go out to the farm and spend two weeks with my mother!"

We did, and the wife still drives the car.

Playing for Profit

Real money in sports—and we don't have to be professionals to get some of it. Are folks who play golf worth more to themselves and to their employers than those who don't? Anyway, there's that famed Knight of the Niblick who says they are—and "putts" the difference at $500.

As it is with playing, so it is with living. Those who like to live well, and not always buy something because it is few cents cheaper, usually find they have saved enough to enjoy most of the good things of life.

For Home or Picnic—

ZIEVE'S
Fruit Nectar

Mix it yourself—to suit your individual taste—and have a pure, wholesome, refreshing beverage at a cost of half cent per glass.

A four ounce bottle Zieve's Fruit Nectar will make three gallons of delicious home drink. Merely add sugar and water, and it is ready for use. It is healthful—drink as much as you like.

Make Your Own Picnic Syrup

Use 1½ parts sugar to 1 part water (by measure). To one pint of this mixture, add 2 tablespoonfuls of Zieve's Fruit Nectar—any flavor. This may be bottled, and kept indefinitely. A teaspoonful to a glass of water makes an economical, convenient picnic drink.

Comes in 13 Delicious Flavors—

The SUMMER FAIR

Includes Exhibits of Prominent Local Manufacturers on Every Floor

THE SUMMER FAIR will give prominent space to the exhibits of local manufacturers. The most conspicuous booth on the second floor will be an elaborate display of the Tuttle Press Company. This large booth was designed and built in the company's plant—and required several weeks to complete. Another special demonstration of Appleton products will be the Scolding Locks Hair Pin Company's booth. This booth will be on the first floor—and will be in charge of a well-known Appleton woman.

The Cosmetic Fair will be located in the large space at the entrance of the shoe section—and will include five demonstrators of high grade toilet preparations. The finest perfumers of the country will have special displays—and will distribute samples.

The Pure Food Exposition
The Fourth Floor will be the scene of the Pure Food Exposition. Eight of the country's best known manufacturers of food products will have booths on this floor. Several of the demonstrators will actually prepare food daily. All will distribute samples of their products.

The Fourth Floor is also extra interesting because of the exhibits of Historic Umbrellas and Silk Dolls that will be shown in the glass cases there.

THE SUMMER FAIR—July 16th to 28th.
